Organized for managers, engineers, geologists, landmen, scientists, accountants and others concerned with evaluating investments; the course addresses the economic analysis of income and service producing investments based on discounted cash flow analysis procedures. Covering economic analysis techniques used to optimize the development and operation of petroleum and non-natural resource production, and processing operations, the 4-day course addresses both before-tax and after-tax analysis considerations. The textbook, Economic Evaluation and Investment Decision Methods, 12th Edition, by Franklin J. Stermole and John M. Stermole, demonstrates the evaluation techniques presented using a variety of applications for people with technical and non-technical backgrounds, with or without previous evaluation experience.

Instructor:

John M. Stermole is President and Director of Investment Evaluations Corporation since 1984. He received a B.S.B.A. in Finance from the University of Denver and an M.S. in Mineral Economics from the Colorado School of Mines. In addition to co-authoring the textbook, "Economic Evaluation and Investment Decision Methods," now in the 11th Edition, December 2000, articles written by Mr. Stermole have been published via the "Institute for Global Resources Policy & Management, Colorado School of Mines," the "Northwest Mining Association," "Heavy and Highway Construction" and a chapter in the text, "The Business of Petroleum Exploration," published by the American Association of Petroleum Geologists (AAPG)," 1992 and re-printed in 1993. Since 1986, John has presented the course "Economic Evaluation and Investment Decision Methods" more than 180 times to companies, government agencies, and institutions.

Since 1987, Mr. Stermole has taught and currently holds the title of Lecturer at Colorado School of Mines. Since 1996, graduating classes have annually recognized John as one of the "Outstanding Faculty Members" at Colorado School of Mines. In 1997 John was appointed as a Fellow to the Institute for Global Resources Policy and Management at the Colorado School of Mines.
